COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

THURSDAY EVENING, MARCH 31.

Consols in London yesterday were unchanged at par, French Rentes at 121. Enfaced Rupee paper is quoted at 84⅞ for Fours and 91½ for Fours-and-a-half. The latter shows an advance of ¼, and the former, according to the last quotation we had through Reuter, would indicate a rise of ⅜, but private messages of the day before gave 84¾, so that the actual improvement is only ⅛. The 3½ per cent. Sterling Loan is ¼ higher at 102⅛. Exchange Bank Shares show a rise of £1 in Oriental, and 10s. in Chartered and Chartered Mercantile. The Chartered Bank,we are informed, pays a dividend of 4 per cent. for the half-year ending 31st December last, at the same time carrying £10,000 to reserve.

In general produce Coffee is quoted 1s. lower in Midplantation Ceylon, and 6d. in Native. Cocoanut-oil is unchanged. Linseed is dull, with a decline of 3d. per quarter in Calcutta, and 6d. to 9d. in Bombay qualities. Rapeseed is unchanged. Wheat partially 6d. per quarter lower to arrive.

Metals are all as last quoted. Piece-goods in Manchester inanimate.

Cotton in Liverpool yesterday closed heavy, the day's sales being estimated at 8,000 bales,of which 500 were Surats. Spot quotations come unaltered with the exception of a decline of 1-16d. in Americans, but to arrive Americans are again 1-32d. to 1-16d. per lb. lower, and Surats as before almost unsaleable. The favourite figure of 6d. per lb. for Mid. Uplands has at last been reached,but there seems as little probability of any reaction now as when the price was 6¼d. The statistical position, in fact, would now justify 5d., and practically that might be taken as much nearer the present figure than 6d., as although Middling Cotton, from its scarcity, commands a comparatively full rate, good useable Americans are competing with Surats at remarkably low prices. In New York yesterday ready Mid. Uplands were unchanged at 10 11-16 cents and June shipment at 10·60 cents per lb. The receipts at the U.S. ports to date give the following comparisons :—

	1881.	1880.	1879
Wednesday's receipts	10,000	9,000	5,000
Four days' do.	32,000	33,000	30,000
Total since 1st Sept.	5,031,000	4,492,000	4,111,000

Bar Silver in London is still quoted at 52¼d. per oz. ; but a Reuter's telegram from Paris received this morning may not unlikely produce a marked effect on the market in London to-day. The announcement is that "the Bank of France pays in exchange of notes three-quarters in gold and one-quarter in silver." What the effect of this move may be it is difficult to quite estimate. For a long time past it has been a matter of general remark that the funds of the Bank of France have been undergoing a rapid conversion from gold to silver, and it is to this movement undoubtedly that we owe the summoning of the approaching Bimetallic Conference. That the result of the Conference could not be waited for shows that matters must have been becoming much more critical of late ; and it is very evident that the French monetary system has now got into a position which will necessitate a very decided step one way or other at no distant date Either she must open her mints to silver again and adopt bimetallism out and out, or she must declare for a gold standard and face the loss on realising her silver. The cost of the latter alternative would be so enormous that we can scarcely think it would be entertained, and the probability of something coming out of the Conference in favour of silver is therefore all the more likely. The exchange quotation in London on Paris will probably give some guide as to how the matter is regarded at home. In the meantime the effect here has been to render franc bills almost unquotable, as the banks—who, so far as we can learn, have no private information on the subject—are afraid to operate pending some further development of the situation.

Exchange.—Council drafts in London yesterday having gone at 1s. 7 15-16d., about the rate generally anticipated, we opened here with a decidedly quiet feeling,and during the day a decline of 1-32d. was established. Only a very limited business has been done, the enquiry for Bank Bills being insignificant, whilst very little Private Paper is offering. We quote :—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 7 31-32d.	per rupee.
Do. telegraphic	1s. 7 15-16d.	,,
Do. 3 months' sight ..	1s. 8 3-32d.	,,
Credits, 3 ,, ,, ..	1s. 8 7-32d.	,,
Documents, 3 ,, ,, ..	1s. 8d.	,,
Francs, 3 ,, ,, ..	1fr. 11c. nominal	,,

On Calcutta we quote demand drafts at 3-32 per cent. premium, 60 days' sight ⅛ per cent. discount.

Government Paper continues very strong. An active enquiry has prevailed throughout the day, but in the absence of sellers transactions have not been large. We now quote, Fours Rs. 102½ ; Fours-and-a-half Rs. 110¼.

Shares on the whole are quiet. Bank of Bombay's are ¼ per cent. lower at Rs. 745. Spinning and Weaving Mill shares are generally Rs. 5 lower all round. Press Companies, however, are generally firm, Apollo being quoted Rs. 50 and Fort Press Rs. 75 per share higher.

Cotton keeps very dull but remarkably steady. Prices are perhaps Re. 1 to Rs. 2 lower where actual business has been done, but transactions have been limited in the extreme, Omras seem quite neglected, but Broach has met rather more enquiry, and in Dholleras a very steady business is passing for all deliveries. We quote :—

Good Omra, April delivery	Rs. 193	per candy.
F. G. F. ,, ,, ...	,, 182	,,
G. F. ,, ,, ...	,, 172	,,
Good Broach, Ready	,, 218	,,
do. do., April	,, 217	,,
Good Dhollera, ,, ...	,, 191	,,
F. G. F. do. ,, ...	,, 180	,,
G. F. do. ,, ...	,, 176	,,

Seeds and Wheat remain unaltered.

Freights are quiet. For Liverpool 31s. 3d. is still the nominal quotation, but shippers decline to pay over 30s., and that figure will probably be established to-morrow. For Trieste and Venice re-lets have been done at 35s., payable here. For other ports there is no change.

Piece-goods are still dull at unaltered values, and the off-take gives no signs of improvement.

Coals are firm, and Davison,s West Hartley have been sold alongside steamer in harbour at Rs. 15-8 per ton.

The Bombay Gazette

FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 1881.

The announcement made by Reuter that the Bank of France pays its notes three-quarters in gold and one-quarter in silver is by itself hardly intelligible. Reuter has given us either too little or too much. It is well known that since the first year or two after the war, the bank has been ready to redeem its notes in coin, and the knowledge has been sufficient to prevent the notes being presented for redemption. There would not appear to be in the present instance any special notification ; only the simple fact is stated that any one taking notes to the bank will not get gold for them, but must take gold and silver. It is possible that this action is forced on the bank by its diminishing stock of gold. Any new step, however, taken by the bank on the eve of the Conference would seem to point to an ultimate effect on the position of silver. And yet the bald announcement given by Reuter makes it impossible to conjecture what might be the real or the intended effect on this metal. The only thing to be gathered is that France is taking some new departure on the silver question, and it is safe to believe that any such move must be towards bi-metallism. From the last mail we learn that the invitations to the Bimetallic Conference were issued by France and the United States jointly, and it is therefore a reasonable supposition that they will act together. Italy too, we learn, has negotiated a loan with the Rothschilds for sixteen millions sterling, to put her currency on a specie basis ; and the result is that one can now get but fcs. 25·50 for a sovereign in Italy, though a short time ago the price was fcs. 27·70. Italy, therefore, who has declared herself on the side of bi-metallism, will be a real power in the Conference. The smaller States of the Latin Union could hardly refuse to follow the lead of France and Italy. There would appear to be reason therefore to believe that some effective steps will be taken towards bi-metallism at the coming Conference, and that it will not end, like the last, in mere compliments.

We have all of us read with delight the marvellously graphic account of the French Revolution by the great writer we have recently lost. We have felt a thrill of patriotic pride at his glowing description of the power of our country under his favourite hero. We have followed with wrapt attention his life of the Prussian warrior king. Noble subjects all, right worthily treated, the author of these works must ever rank, despite the vicious mannerism of his style, as one of our most popular, eloquent, and powerful historians, and as a great prose poet, But why should we consider him a "philosopher," a "prophet," a "seer," a "sage," the "greatest moral teacher of the age?" Such are a few of the terms of eulogy applied to Thomas Carlyle by the London press, and for the most part, too, by journalists who would themselves indignantly repudiate every one of the doctrines he inculcated so vigorously. What is the gospel according to Carlyle ? We do not allude to his yearning love for truth and hatred of falsehood and sham. That is a doctrine which has been especially the property of Britons for generations. The oftener it is inculcated the better. Happily many great writers have employed their talents to impress it upon us. The teaching which will remain for ever associated with the name of Carlyle is Hero Worship, the modern form of the process of deification which belongs to an earlier stage in civilisation. Surely nations are strong and progressive in direct proportion to the degree of individual independence and originality amongst them. For this reason a good absolute government is, in the long run, far less conducive to the material progress of a nation than a popular although inferior rule. In the one case the people are taught to look to their rulers for guidance and order ; in the other they must depend upon themselves. The friction of individual brains which the process of self-government involves is a most powerful agent in raising the intellectual level of the masses. The influence of self-government upon the people is similar to the influence of a religion which, like Protestantism, makes a demand upon the intelligence, compared with the effect of a religion, like Catholicism, by which individual responsibility is minimised. To Carlyle it seemed only right and proper that the destinies of mankind should be entrusted to some few men who considered themselves, and have the power of persuading others, that they are wiser and better than their fellow-beings. This tendency to look to others for guidance is due to the self-felt weakness of humanity, and is especially strong in the weaker races and in the gentler sex. It is this tendency which has made "saviours of society" possible ; which has created them all, from Cæsar to Louis Napoleon ; and which probably tends more than any other one influence to retard the slow but regular progress of humanity. All the world are fools with the exception of some few heroes. This is the one chief idea inculcated in all Carlyle's works, from his first "mystical" essays to his last political pamphlets.

Public opinion is contemptible ; listen to the word of one wise, god-like man. But public opinion, after all, is but the resulting product, the survival of the fittest ideas, after the jostling and the conflict of thoughts and opinions, in millions of brains of average calibre, amongst which must be some of the very highest order of intellect. Carlyle's fellow-countrymen consisted of "twenty-seven millions, mostly fools." But folly and wisdom are, after all, only relative. It is not philosophical to complain because it has not pleased the Almighty to make that marvellous instrument, the human brain, generally wiser than it is. The twenty-seven millions contain at least less fools than any other twenty-seven millions who have ever lived upon this earth. They have turned out from their ranks men who have influenced the thoughts and daily life of the world as no other men of ancient or modern nations have done. The working classes of Great Britain have in recent times produced a Stephenson who quadrupled the wealth of the world in a decade ; an Arkwright who taught us how to clothe the whole world. In literature a stone-quarry turned out a Hugh Miller,and a peasant's hut produced a Burns, and once even a Carlyle. It is strange that Carlyle, who taught, truly enough, that in nature "silence means latency," did not recognise thoroughly the latent power of the masses. To him the few men who had stepped out from the ranks of common workers were alone worthy of attention. He did not see that for every man who thus was drawn out by circumstances, many as good as he must remain behind content to do their duty unhonoured and unknown. Had Stephenson been born twenty years sooner or later he would, in all probability, have remained a simple, ingenious, but obscure mechanic. Others would have perfected the wondrous machine which will now for ever be associated with his name. Stephenson but hastened the invention by a few months, or at most a few years.

This belief in the universal folly of mankind appears to have substituted itself in Carlyle's mind in place of the Calvinistic doctrine of universal depravity, which he had rejected. It seems peculiarly out of place in a man born and bred in a country the lower orders of which are the most cultivated in the world, and who have "long enjoyed the privilege of supplying the greater part of Europe with professors for its Universities and educated and skilled workmen for its practical arts." The British workman may organise himself, he may construct benefit societies with world-wide ramifications, but to allow him to vote at the election of members of Parliament is "to shoot Niagara." "And after ?" "And after," we find ourselves much as we were before. Carlyle theoretically admired the "horny-handed workman," but he practically despised him so much as to strenuously deny his right to a voice in the Government of the country whose wealth he produced, and in the expenditure of the revenue he helped to raise. Carlyle, like very many other "educated' persons, under-rated the intelligence of those whom it is customary to term the "working classes." They were, in his opinion, uneducated. Many of them, no doubt, can neither read nor write, but even these have received a very valuable education in respect of which the so-called educated classes are generally rather deficient. The workman has learnt how to earn his bread with the sweat of his brow. He has had the benefit of actual experience of the difficulties of life. Stern necessity has taught him what the struggle for existence is. Want and suffering have taught him to sympathise with and to help his fellow-men. The most superficial acquaintance with members of the working classes is sufficient to show that an order of intelligence often obtains amongst them as high, or very nearly as high, as is ordinarily met with in "good society." And why should it not be so ? To learn to translate Horace with the help of a dictionary and the stimulus of a birch rod is education which qualifies a man to be a senator. To have to interpret the diagrams of a steam engine, to learn to decipher from the jagged pencil scrawl the wants and the faults of the complicated mass of machinery before him, is no "education ;" it is only the business of a "working man" on 25s. a week who should not be qualified to vote for his borough. To learn to construct what it pleases pedagogues to term "verses" is a liberal education ; to learn to construct a watch is only a technical one. There is no doubt which is the most useful knowledge to the world at large, and on the other hand there can be no dispute about which exercise is best adapted to develop the purely literary faculties of the individual ; but it is quite an open question which is the highest intellectual feat, and which is best calculated to develop those mental powers which are most valuable to mankind. No, we have shot Niagara, and all of us, except perhaps an insignificant minority, would be very sorry to find ourselves suspended over the fall once more. And here we see one great difference between the reforms gradually forced upon a country by the might of the despised public opinion and the institutions created by the power of an individual such as one of Carlyle's heroes. The former is rarely, if ever, reversed ; the latter often, if not generally, ends with the life of the originator.

There is, too, much to wonder at, and something to regret, in Carlyle's choice of heroes. He has little to say about Newton, who unfolded one of the grandest secrets of nature to us, who invented that most powerful engine of calculation, the calculus. He passes over the really great benefactors of humanity, and admires chiefly those men who in abnormal conditions of society have seized the opportunity to raise themselves to greatness upon the ruins of the liberties of their fellow-countrymen, conveniently forgetting that this brilliant success is due quite as much to a defic

AYOUB'S QUARREL WITH HASHIM KHAN.

The quarrel between Ayoub Khan and Hashim Khan has attained large proportions very suddenly. At first it was said to be only a private disagreement which would be very easily settled, but now it would seem to have been a well-laid plan on Hashim's part to put himself forward as a rival of Ayoub.

This may prove embarrassing for the Ameer's representative, especially as Hashim Khan has many supporters at Kabul and in Northern Afghanistan generally, who could make diversion in his favour. If Hashim Khan and his allies capture Herat, an émeute in Kabul is possible.

VIOLENT ASSAULTS BY SOLDIERS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)
LAHORE, MARCH 31.

John Furmage, private soldier, 29th Regiment, stationed at Umballa, was tried here for the murder of a native whilst out with comrades shooting near Umballa, in February last. Furmage struck the native with the butt-end of his gun in a scuffle which ensued from a goat having been shot. The jury found the prisoner guilty, but recommended him to mercy, the murder not having been premeditated. The judge, after consultation with other judges of the Chief Court, sentenced the prisoner to transportation for life.

Two privates of the 8th King's, Mian Meer, were charged with causing the death of a native whilst out shooting here a few days ago. They were brought before the Judicial Assistant to-day. One man was discharged; the other, Corporal Rice, has been committed for trial on a charge of culpable homicide not amounting to murder.

STEAMER REPORT.

TRINCOMALLE, MARCH 31, 11-50 A. M.

H. M. S. Ready, from Galle, arrived this morning.

COLONEL WARDROP'S appointment to the office of Deputy Judge Advocate-General, vice Colonel Maude, appears in yesterday's Bombay Government Gazette.

GENTLEMEN attending His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief's levee on the 1st April are requested to bring two cards legibly written—one to be given to the Aide-de-Camp at the door, and the other at the time of presentation.

EARL DE GREY, the Viceroy's eldest son, left Bombay by the mail steamer yesterday. He arrived yesterday morning by the Jubbulpore mail-train and passed the day at Watson's Hotel.

THE season reports showing the state of the weather and prospects of the crops throughout the Bombay Presidency for the week ended the 23rd instant are summarised as follows :—Rabi harvest in progress. Slight rain in Gujarat. Fever and cattle-disease in many parts of the presidency.

YESTERDAY'S Government Gazette contains the following appointments by Government of members of the Board of Trustees of the Port of Bombay from the 1st April next, viz. :—J. Nugent, Esquire, C.S., appointed to act as Collector of Bombay ; A. C. Trevor, Esquire, C.S., Collector of Customs, Bombay ; E. C. K. Ollivant, Esquire, C.S., Municipal Commissioner for the City of Bombay ; Captain G. O'B. Carew, late I. N., Superintendent of Marine, Western Division.

SIR RICHARD AND LADY MEADE and Mr. Lestock Reid were passengers by yesterday's mail-steamer from Bombay. A large number of friends had assembled at the Apollo Bunder, while others went on board the steamer, to bid them farewell. Among them were noticed the Hon'ble Mr. Ashburner, the Hon'ble Mr. Kemball, Colonel Hancock, Sir Frank Souter, Messrs. C. P. Cooper, J. Nugent, J. Pollen, J. King, A. C. Trevor, W. R. Pratt, J. Warden, General Hewett, Dr. Lumsdaine, Messrs. W. Webb, L. Rivett-Carnac, J. W. Orr, H. M. Birdwood, and others.

THE Bengal Civilians will give a farewell dinner at the United Service Club to Mr. C. T. Buckland on Saturday next.

THE latest reports of the indigo-brokers mention a slight improvement in the prospects of the crop during the past fortnight.

THE Darjiling paper reports that heavy rain fell in the district on Sunday and Monday last week, and that the weather has since "been hot and forcing."

MAJOR R. A. COMBE, Deputy Assistant Quarter-master-General of the Oudh division, has been ordered to join the head-quarters of the department at Simla. Captain Pearson, R. H. A., officiates temporarily for him at Lucknow.

THE China papers announce the death on the 23rd February, of Colonel James Edward Cooke, who was for seventeen years in command of the Anglo-Chinese Contingent at Ningpo. He served gallantly under Ward in suppressing the Taiping Rebellion. He was much respected both by Chinese and foreigners.

REGARDING the opium market, the China papers tell us that "at Hongkong Bengal drug has been in fair request during the fortnight, but at declining rates for New Patna and Old Benares. In Malwa there has been a moderate business at steady rates, and Persian has been in some demand. At Shanghai the business in all varieties of opium has been on a retail scale, but the market for Bengal improved slightly towards the close."

THAT Mr. Lepel Griffin, despite his great services as chief Political Officer at Kabul, would go unrewarded, Life says, was quite expected, his memorable after-dinner speech at Simla having given mortal offence in certain high quarters. His secretary, Mr. Frederick Cunningham, has shared the fate of his chief, despite the fact of his having been highly recommended for his services as Political Officer to Sir Frederick Maude's division in the Khyber and Bazar Valley Expedition, and as secretary to the Kabul Embassy.

THE result of the court-martial on Major Currie, remarks Life, has been to bring out strongly that he bravely did his duty at Maiwand. The summary of the evidence shows a hopeless confusion on the part of the witnesses. If a captain of a man of war loses his ship, the court-martial is not held on a third lieutenant or a marine officer. But in the Navy matters are thoroughly investigated.

HIS MAJESTY THE KING OF THE SANDWICH ISLES will honour England with a visit this summer, and is to be the guest of Lord Charles Beresford. His Majesty's name is King Kalakana I. He was born in November, 1836, and was elected by the Hawaian Parliament in 1874. The once well-known Emma, Queen of the Sandwich Isles, was no relation of the present King, whose sister is married to a Scotchman, Mr. Archibald Scott Cleghorn. An elder sister, the Princess Lydia, of whose amiability and good looks visitors to the Isles speak very highly, is heir to the throne.

TRAVELLERS between Simla and Calcutta have, remarks the Pioneer, gratefully recognized the improvements made of late years for their convenience in all the traffic arrangements along the line. The trains run with admirable punctuality, the stations are neat, the waiting-rooms clean, and the food supplied, if not particularly inviting, is usually at least eatable. One prominent exception must, however, be made. The Ghazeabad refreshment-room still maintains its unenviable pre-eminence as the worst on the line. The excellent food supplied at most of the halting places on the G. I. P. Railway show that a reasonable degree of attention to the tastes of civilised beings is not unattainable. What can be done at one place is possible elsewhere.

THERE is, says the Kandahar correspondent of the Pioneer, a report in the city that Abdul Wahab Khan, the son of Sirdar Mir Afzal Khan, the Hakim of Taiwara, on Ayoub Khan's behalf, has been attacked by the people of Taiwara and Siahbund, and compelled to retreat to Herat. No further news has been received regarding the state of affairs at Herat. The Ameer's troops are said to have arrived at Ghuzni. The report of Sirdar Mahomed Aziz's death there is unconfirmed. Futteh Khan Achakzai, who formerly held charge of Kandahar for a year, is expected to be one of the men deputed here by the Ameer Abdul Rahman. The Ghazi who murdered a native follower on the 21st instant has been executed, together with a native follower who murdered another follower some time ago.

THE Brussels correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette writes :—Rumours have been current for some time that new fortifications were to be constructed on the Meuse. In the debate on the war estimates in the Chamber the Prime Minister stated, in answer to a question, that the Government did not propose to modify in any way the plan of national defence adopted in 1859, and completed in 1867 by the law for constructing a second line of forts around Antwerp by means of the sale of the military terrains. The Government would shortly bring in a bill to sanction advances from this fund for accelerating the construction of the forts. The principle of the concentration of the defence of Belgium about Antwerp is therefore maintained.

ACCORDING to a St. Petersburg telegram, it is stated in "military circles" that it is proposed to establish a Trans-Caspian Government, Bami being the capital and Askabad the farthest military station. Geok Tepe would also be strongly fortified. The Novosti states that Russia has opened negotiations with Persia for the possession of the fortress of Sarakts, on the road to Herat, in exchange for the strip of territory occupied by the Yomud Turkomans. The same journal reports that "Ayoub Khan's northern force has passed the Morghab and has occupied the whole of the Maimena district."

THE enthusiasm of many cognoscenti for Eastern art is so great that passing reference to the exclusion of "Japanese, Persian, and Turkish needlework" from the South Kensington exhibition of old English embroidery has led a well-known firm in Regent-street to expostulate as follows :—"Permit us to say," they write, "that Japanese, Persian, and Turkish needlework can claim a higher antiquity, in nine cases out of ten has more art merit, and that Eastern needlework generally as the traditional school from which Europe has borrowed all its best ideas." They support this opinion by reference to many acknowledged authorities, and conclude by remarking that although they "feel it would be undesirable for the Royal School to foster an alien art," they wish to protest against the suggestion that the real art value of Eastern needlework compares unfavourably with that of Europe.

AN English resident in Patras writes to a London newspaper as follows :—The great majority of men say that there will be war ; that there must be war ; that the nation cannot avoid it. Still I do not think that there will be war. After repeated attempts to get at the real minds of the people here I have come to the conclusion that they do not wish for war, and are not prepared for war à outrance. What they would like would be to see some forward movement of a warlike character which would enable them at the present time to yield with a good grace to the peaceful counsels of the Powers, and in the future to reproach Europe, if occasion should arise, with having compelled them to turn back when success was certain and their prey well within their grasp. In this town at least there is none of the feverish enthusiasm prevailing in Athens, nor is there any warlike ardour in the ranks of the army itself. There are many decided invalids in the ranks who are compelled to serve in spite of their unfitness, because the authorities fear that if they exempted them many others quite well able to serve would try to get off.

IN the Queen's Bench Division, before Mr. Justice Watkin Williams and Mr. Justice Mathew, judgment has been given in the case of Clarke v. Bradlaugh, M. P. The action was to recover penalties for the defendant having sat and voted in the House of Commons without first having taken the necessary oath prescribed by law. The defendant pleaded in answer that he was a person on whom an oath would not be binding on his conscience, and that he was entitled to make a solemn affirmation or declaration as prescribed by law for such witnesses in a court of justice. To this the plaintiff demurred, and to so much of the statement of defence as alleged that the defendant had made an affirmation, the plaintiff replied that the defendant was a person who, by want of religious belief, was not entitled to make and subscribe a solemn affirmation. To this the defendant demurred on the ground that the statute did not require that a person making an affirmation should make or profess any religious belief. Mr. Justice Mathew, after reviewing the history and facts of the case, gave judgment for the plaintiff on the main question, and for the defendant on the question of religious belief in making a solemn declaration or affirmation. The court granted Mr. Bradlaugh leave to appeal.

THE KOLHAPUR ADMINISTRATION.

THE following official memorandum has been placed on the Editor's table at the Secretariat :—

An article describing the resumption of inams in Kolhapur having appeared in the Bombay Gazette of 7th instant, the following brief statement of facts has been drawn up with a view to correct certain misapprehensions :—

There is no Inam Commission in Kolhapur, but on the death of the incumbent of an inam or service holding of any sort, an inquiry into titles takes place. The enquiry is conducted in this wise. The preliminary investigation is made by the mamledar of the taluka in which the inam or service holding is situated. He submits, his reports with all the papers in the case, to the State dufturdar, who, after carefully scrutinizing and verifying his subordinates proceeding, supplying any information wanting, forwards the whole case with his own opinion to the State Karbhari's office, when all the papers are again carefully examined. Finally, when the enquiry is complete the case is laid before the Political Agent, to whom was lent remittent fever than before. The children did not get any change of air during the year, as the Khandalla barracks, which had been conditionally placed at the disposal of the schools for two months in the cold season, were required for invalided troops from Afghanistan. There were 309 boarders in the school at the close of the year, and the average number exceeded that of the previous year by nine. 53 children, viz 43 boys and 10 girls, were discharged, and 50 children (17 being children of soldiers), viz., 33 boys and 15 girls, were admitted during the year. The Council regret to add that at present the names of 35 children are on the register for admission, waiting until room can be found for them. The number of the day scholars at the close of the year was 37 of these 11 were on the free list. The report of the Superintendent of the Press (Mr. Banks) is again satisfactory. The Council had the satisfaction last year of reporting that His Excellency the Governor in Council had kindly consented to subscribe Rs. 50,000 by five yearly instalments to the proposed Endowment Fund of the Society, provided an equal amount was raised from other sources. Towards the amount thus required, the directors of the G. I. P. Railway Company have, through the influence of Mr. Scoble, Q. C., to whom the thanks of the Council are due, contributed Rs. 20,000, on the condition (which has been accepted) that seven children of their employés are always maintained in the Society's boarding-house free of charge. The balance has been issued to the public, with the result, up to the date of this meeting, of Rs. 3,180 actually paid, and a further amount of Rs. 1,150 conditionally promised. While thanking the subscribers to this fund for their liberality, the Council wish to take this opportunity of making the following remarks for the information of those persons to whom application for contributions has been made, but who have not yet responded. The reason for which the Council have undertaken to augment the Endowment Fund is that the claims upon the Society for admissions into its schools are so many more than it can meet, that it is highly desirable that the scope of its operations should be enlarged. The Society is constantly obliged to refuse applications from persons whom it would gladly assist, if it could do so with a due regard to the pressing claims of the orphan and destitute. It often happens that from 30 to 50 children have to wait for a considerable time before they can be received, though their destitution, or the residence of their parents out of the reach of day schools, makes their claims to admission imperative as soon as room for them can be found. This state of things points clearly to the great importance of the Society enlarging its schools; and yet, as at present situated, the Council of Directors does not see its way to such a step. It has been stated in the course of this report that no less than about 200 children are entirely supported by the Society, while 95 more pay a portion only of the cost of their maintenance. This has been the case for many years past. With an adequate Endowment Fund, however, matters would be different, and it is in the hope of making its way clear to such an extension of its sphere of operations as those who are acquainted with the details of the claims upon it are most anxious to see effected that the Council is desirous that this fund should be raised as speedily as possible. While closing this notice of the fund, the Council begs leave most earnestly to commend it to the liberality of the Bombay public, which happily is seldom, if ever, found wanting when a good case, such as the Council most fully believe this to be, has been made out. Government has been pleased to promise a grant of Rs 2,000 towards the cost of furnishing the Apprentices Home, on condition that no more than the whole amount budgeted for under this head is claimed during the year 1881-82. The Council, on receiving this resolution of Government, at once appointed a Sub-Committee, consisting of Mr. Wells and Mr. Banks, together with the treasurer and the secretary of the Society, to report on the changes that should be made in the rules of the Home in consequence of its contemplated enlargement, and the suggestion of this Sub-Committee that the Home has been placed under the superintendence of the head-master, the meals of the apprentices have been improved, and the building more comfortably furnished than it used to be, while the scale of payment has been considerably lowered in the case of every boy who, at the end of the month, can produce a certificate from the head-master and his foreman respectively that his conduct has been good. The Council has also opened the Home to all boys belonging to the Society's school on attaining the age of 16 years, whether destitute or not, whereas formerly the destitute only were held to have a claim to it ; and has also resolved to admit boys of good character from other schools. The contributions to the General Fund from the public were rather less than in the previous year ; and the Council earnestly trusts that the needs of the Society as set forth in this report will lead to improvement in this respect during the current year, as well as to liberal contributions to the Endowment Fund.

His Excellency the Governor then addressed the meeting. He said—As the position in which I stand makes it impossible for me to be heard at both ends of the hall at once, I will address myself in the first place to the visitors, and afterwards say a few words to the children of the school. I have great pleasure in attending this day the annual meeting of the Byculla Schools, which are now so famous in Bombay, and which for more than half a century have done so much for the education of European children, and brought up so many of them to be useful members of the community. I regret very much that the many pressing duties which have fallen on me since my arrival in this presidency have prevented my being more closely acquainted with this and other excellent institutions in Bombay. It has been quite impossible for me to accomplish all that I wished to do in such a short time. I am happy to think that this institution requires no eulogy from me to recommend it to your attention. We know what good work it has done, and how many who have been educated here have risen to positions of usefulness, and even eminence. In fact, the Byculla School is one of the institutions of which Bombay is justly proud, and it has engaged the attention of many of our most distinguished officers. We know how intimately the name of Sir James Outram is associated with the schools ; and that name is one of the brightest that adorns the pages of the history of British India. I am glad to know that all my predecessors have taken a deep interest in the schools, whose advantages I hope will not be lost sight of in my time. I believe the report is in your hands, and probably it has not been read for fear of wearying you. Our time has been already agreeably occupied by listening to the beautiful singing of a portion of the scholars ; but still there are one or two points in the report to which it is my duty to call your attention. The number of scholars is satisfactory, and so, on the whole, is the report of the examinations ; and such faults as have been found will, I am sure, be remedied in the future. It is most satisfactory to know that these children have been preserved in such uniform health in a climate like that of Bombay. The deaths are very few, and the illnesses of a very mild type. This says much in favour of the schools, and of the care taken by those who are in charge of them. It is to be regretted that the usual trip to the hills could not take place last year ; but I am glad to know that it is in contemplation to have one this year. I am quite certain the Commander-in-Chief will be glad to facilitate it ; and I ought to mention that His Excellency General Hardinge expressed his regret that, owing to the very heavy duties falling on him on the first day of his command, he has been unable to be present, but he assures us of his interest in the future. And now it is my desire and my duty to call your attention to the importance of the effort being made to establish an Endowment Fund. It may be asked why the fund is necessary in view of the fact that the revenue of the school is, happily, equal to the expenditure. But we are told in the report that it is necessary constantly to refuse admission to the school of children in every way deserving of it ; in fact, like all other flourishing institutions, this school has outgrown the original demands upon it. A comprehensive scheme for the extension of education among European children in India, promoted by Archdeacon Bily is now under the consideration of the Government of Bombay, but I have great pleasure to find there is no need to establish the new system here, because our existing institutions are so good that all that is wanted is to extend them in proportion to the demands made upon them. This school stands in the front rank of our institutions for the education of European children. We may therefore ask the public to make up the balance for the Endowment Fund, by which it is hoped the usefulness of the schools will be extended. We cannot do better than build on the old lines, and extend our existing provision so that it may be adequate for the wants of the future. I also desirable to bring to the notice of the friends of the institution, and particularly the parents of the elder pupils, the Apprentices' Home which has been established for the accommodation of those educated here who are engaging in the first stages of the work of life. You know how apt boys are when first freed from school to take a little too much liberty. It is most desirable that while an independent character should be cultivated, they should have such inducements, or even restraints, as would prevent them making a bad use of their liberty. The Apprentices' Home offers comfortable lodging to the boys who are engaged in learning trades for their future maintenance. I venture to think that it is an admirable institution for the purpose for which it is designed. It gives the boys an excellent home, and will make them in the future better workmen and better citizens. But parents are apt to indulge their children, and instead of encouraging them to take advantage of this Home, will rather let them follow their own devices. I urge all who have influence over the lads to use it in favour of this institution, which will be of great advantage to them, and will give a supplementary finish to their education. Let us then make up the money still wanting to complete the sum of Rs. 50,000 mentioned in the report, so that this time next year we may be able to announce that it has been subscribed. And now I will say just a few words to the pupils gathered together here in whom I am glad to see such evidence of health and spirits, and on the part of the visitors report, I thank those who have contributed so much to their pleasure by the beautiful singing to which we have listened. If I had chosen the programme myself, I could not have selected pieces which it would have given me more pleasure to hear ; and the manner in which they were sung reflects the highest credit on the head-master, who has so admirably trained the performers. The pupils of the school, boys and girls, must be gratified by the interest taken in their progress by those who are present as visitors on this occasion, and many of whom have done a hard day's work before coming. I hope you are happy at school. Perhaps you think school is not a place to be happy in, but I can assure you that though many years have passed since I was at school, the days I spent there were, on the whole, the happiest of my life. School is happy in proportion to the right use you make of it. Boys think that if they get off a lesson they have done a fine thing by saving themselves trouble, but, on the contrary, the boy that shirks his work is always getting into trouble, whilst the boy who is on the master's good books has comparatively little trouble. But it is not only to keep out of trouble that you should do your duty faithfully. It is only by steady work day by day that you can hope when you leave school to take a good place in life, not have to ask a favour from anybody, and maintain yourself and be a credit to those about you. I think you must always have the feeling that you owe something to those who founded the institution, and those who take an interest in it. You should each of you feel that you have a duty left to you to help to keep up the credit of the institution and to take a pride in it. I hope, under Providence, this school will be the means of equipping you thoroughly for the work of life. I trust we shall meet in future years and be better acquainted—I should like to come down here and see you at play, for I hope you not only work well, but play well. I wish you a happy trip to the hills, and it will not be my fault if you do not get one this year. I shall interest myself especially in the manner in which you use the falling waters and breathe the pure air of the hills you will have a really happy time of it. (Applause.)

The Hon. Mr. Ashburner, in moving a vote of thanks to His Excellency for presiding, said that those only who knew the arduous nature of His Excellency's duties could fully appreciate the sacrifice he made in being present on that occasion.

Three cheers were then given for Sir James Fergusson, and the meeting separated.

THE BYCULLA SCHOOLS.

THE annual meeting in connection with these schools was held on Wednesday afternoon, and was well attended. H. E. the Governor presided. The play-shed, in which the meeting was held, was very prettily decorated with flags and plants.

The report of the schools for 1880 states that the schools were examined in religious knowledge towards the close of the year by the Rev. C. F. H. Johnston, M.A., Chaplain of Colaba, who reported that "these four divisions [I—IV] gave uniform satisfaction ; their acquaintance with scripture was thoroughly good throughout." Mr. Johnston does not seem to have been as well satisfied with the Vth Division of both schools as with the other divisions. The schools were also examined by the Government Inspector (H. P. Jacob, Esq.), in whose report the following sentences occur. The boys' school "as a whole passed a satisfactory examination. I regret that I cannot report quite so favourably of the girls' school." "All the classes [of the girls' school] showed fair proficiency in plain needlework." The conduct of the children throughout the year was in general good, but it was found necessary to expel three boys for grave misconduct. The only change that has taken place in the course of instruction has been the substitution of Hindustani for Marathi as the vernacular taught to the boys. The Council has this pleasure to note its appreciation of the manner in which the staff of both schools have performed their duties. An addition of Rs. 50 a month has been made to the personal allowance of Mr. Walters, head-master, and of Rs. 25 a month to that of Mr. Thornton, assistant, and increments in each case of long and good service. Mr. Harris 3rd master, having resigned in consequence of weak, health, Mr. S. G. Smith, Assistant Master, was promoted to fill his place, while Mr. Taylor, an undergraduate of the University of Cambridge, was appointed Assistant Master. The Surgeon's report shows that, though there were a few more admissions into hospital in 1880 than in 1879, the diseases the children suffered from were usually of a mild character, and that there was less remittent fever than before. The children did not get any change of air during the year, as the Khandalla barracks, which had been conditionally placed at the disposal of the schools for two months in the cold season, were required for invalided troops from Afghanistan. There were 309 boarders in the school at the close of the year, and the average number exceeded that of the previous year by nine. 53 children, viz 43 boys and 10 girls, were discharged, and 50 children (17 being children of soldiers), viz., 33 boys and 15 girls, were admitted during the year. GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

PRINCE'S DOCK.—The s. s. Roumania left on Wednesday, and the Albulla entered the dock yesterday.

HIGH COURT.—The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Pinhey, who returned from leave by the last mail-steamer, resumed charge of his duties as a judge of the High Court yesterday.

FALL FROM A TREE.—Visram Naronjee, a toddy drawer, while in the act of drawing toddy from a cocoanut-tree on Wednesday last at Mahim, fell and was seriously injured.

THEFT.—Ittoo Babajee, tindal of a cargo-boat, was yesterday convicted by Mr. C. P. Cooper of stealing a quantity of rice, valued at one rupee, the property of Bickia Singh. He was sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment.

FIRE.—A jowlee hut belonging to Nuthoo Pandoo, on the Mahim road, was burnt down to the ground on Wednesday night last. The fire is said to have originated through the careless use of a fire-place within the hut. The damages are nominal.

ACCIDENT ON BOARDSHIP.—Kottoo Hussein, a lascar employed on board the s. s. Sumatra, on Wednesday last accidentally fell from the top of the funnel on to the main deck and was seriously injured. He was removed to the J. J. Hospital for treatment.

A SHARPER.—Muneeram Duljee, a noted character, was yesterday convicted by Mr. Dossabhoy Framjee of cheating, by dishonestly inducing Onkar Bhartee to deliver to him Rs. 8, in return for a brass armlet which the prisoner represented to be a genuine gold article. He was sentenced to six months rigorous imprisonment.

A DISHONEST SERVANT.—Moosa Sojun, a servant in the employment of Hajee Sulliman Jooma, a dyer having his place of business at Dadur, was yesterday convicted by Mr. Dossabhoy Framjee of stealing a quantity of indigo, valued at Rs. 60, the property of, his master. He was sentenced to two months' rigorous imprisonment.

STATEMENT OF SILVER BALANCE IN THE MINT.—The value of silver in the Mint on the morning of the 21st March was Rs. 16,48,291. In addition silver received during the week, Rs. 915. The new coin paid during the week was Re. 1. The balance left was Rs. 16,49,205. There is in addition silver bullion valued at Rs. 2,152 belonging to private individuals deposited in the Mint vaults, and awaiting assay.

DEPARTURE OF AN OLD CITIZEN.—Mr. N. C. Richardson, who has been connected with the industries of Bombay for over twenty years, leaves India to-day by the s. s. Singapore. Mr. Richardson (late of Richardson and Co.) has established no less than three iron foundries in this city, and has surmounted the difficulties of teaching his men the art of moulding, so that they can now compete very favourably with English manufactories. It must be gratifying to Mr. Richardson to know that he has left one of the largest (if not the largest) iron businesses in India to his sons, who have been connected with him for some years in business, and to Mr. John Cruddas, a fellow townsman of his. On Wednesday the European foremen and men employed by Mr. Richardson presented to him an address on vellum signed by over four hundred men who had been in his service for a number of years ; they also gave him a silver tankard with a suitable inscription on it. The same evening 32 gentlemen assembled at Mr. Cruddas' house at a dinner given in honour of Mr. Richardson. Mr. Cruddas, who was in the chair, proposed the health of the guest of the evening, and alluded in feeling terms to his many good qualities ; he then presented him on behalf of his friends with a handsome Kutch-work silver-set with an appropriate inscription, and a chaste brooch and earrings set in brilliants and pearls for Mrs. Richardson. After Mr. Richardson had replied in a suitable manner, "health and prosperity" was proposed to the new firm of Richardson and Cruddas, to which Mr. W. Richardson, the vice-chairman, replied. Several other toasts followed, and the silver tankard just presented to Mr. Richardson, senior, was passed round as a loving-cup.

SIR R. MEADE'S CONNECTION WITH MYSORE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—Your issue of to-day contains a letter headed "The Mysore Installation," in which reference is made to the heads of the administration of that province during the period it has been under British management. The list makes no reference to Sir R. Meade, who was Chief Commissioner from the beginning of 1870 to, I believe, the middle of 1876, though he was absent at Baroda and Hyderabad for the last 15 months of this period, during which Mr. Talyell acted for him. Bangalore owes its charming Park and many other improvements to Sir R. Meade, and the province was probably never more prosperous and free from trouble than during the time it was under this officer's government. It seems therefore strange to find his name omitted in the list of heads of the administration in a review of past events in this principality, while that of the officer who acted for him for a short portion of his term of office is given.

ONE WHO HAS SERVED IN MYSORE.

Bombay, March 29.

GOA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—Your consideration of "Obediah" asks me what was the extent of the Portuguese Empire in the East. Well, it extended from the Eastern Coast of Africa, through the Persian Gulf, where the Portuguese had the settlement of Ormuz, "sung in verse" by Milton (whom "Obediah" must know very well), the Western Coast of India, Ceylon, and Malaca, to China. The Portuguese were, moreover, the virtual masters of the Indian Ocean and of the Eastern trade.

Does "Obediah" know how Ormuz was lost? It was an edifying transaction, which "Obediah," who knows so well how to keep poverty and pomposity apart, must indeed admire.

Then, the expression "Portuguese Empire in the East" is common enough, not only in the writing of the sixteenth century, but even in modern times : for example W. de Gray Birch, of the British Museum.

Now, Mr. Editor, about those twenty-seven lacs of rupees a year. What a large sum to pay for "a wretched little mass of empty pomposity!"

(Before Sir CHARLES SARGENT and Mr. Justice MELVILL.)

THE GREAT ARMENIAN CLAIMANT'S CASE.

IN THE MATTER OF THE GOODS OF COJA CAZAR DE GREGORIO.

This was a petition against the Secretary of State (the hearing of which was specially fixed to come on before their Lordships to-day) by Adrienne Skinderoglou and other children of Jacob and Joseph Skinderoglou by their constituted attorney Giovanni Manfredi Marinolich, submitting that they are entitled to the whole of the estate and effects of the intestate Coja Cazar de Gregorio ; that none of the persons to whom payments have been made had any claim thereto ; and that such payments in no way bind the petitioners or affect their right to the whole of the moneys forming part of the estate, together with all accumulations. They therefore prayed by the present petition that a decree may be passed to divide the estate amongst them in the proportion of one-half among the children of Jacob Skinderoglou and one-half among the children of Joseph Skinderoglou ; that out of the moneys in the hands of the Accountant-General the petitioners may be paid the costs of the petition and the proceedings connected with it ; that the sum of Rs. 1,33,392, with interest thereon from 1st August, 1863 may be decreed to be repaid by the Secretary of State to the Accountant-General, to the credit of the estate ; and that the moneys of the estate with the accumulations, after payment of costs, may be paid by the Accountant-General to the petitioners. Mr. Inverarity instructed by Messrs. Smith and Frere, appeared for the petitioners ; and the Advocate General, with Mr. Latham and Mr. Farran, instructed by the Government Solicitor, for the Secretary of State.

The extraordinary circumstances under which the present claim arises are described at great length in the petition. The petitioners are the children of Jacob and Joseph Skinderoglou, both deceased, who were brothers of the intestate Coja Cazar de Gregorio, who was an Armenian by race and a native of Angora in Turkey. For some years before his death he resided chiefly in the Bengal Presidency and carried on trade at Calcutta and other places between Bengal and Persia. In 1774 he embarked on board a ship bound for Bussorah, but died on the voyage about the month of August, 1774. For some time before his death his business was managed by one Hajee Ibrahim and one Hajee Mustaffa Chatoorjy, both of whom had in their possession consignments of his goods. No will of Coja

WM. A. BAKER, Administrator to the above Estate.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

COLOMBO HABOUR.

NOTICE is hereby given that at the close of the present North-East Monsoon, when the TITAN shall have been moved in from the end of the Break-water, the Red Light, which hitherto has been exhibited from the TITAN during the progress of the Break-water, will be hoisted, at an elevation of 30 feet, to the mast of a boat, which will be moored as close to the end of the Break-water as may be found practicable, and will be continued in future throughout the South-West Monsoon, when the TITAN is not in position, until the completion of the Break-water.

THOS. ROBSON, Assistant Master Attendant.
Master Attendant's Office, Colombo, 24th February, 1881.

By order of His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor in Council,
M. W. WILLOUGHBY, Colonel,
Secretary to Government.
Bombay Castle, 23rd March, 1881.
